PART II
NARRATIVE SUMMARY

During the month of July the Battalion conducted operations in the Kentucky, Napoleon/Saline and Lancaster II AO's. The first six days of July was spent in Leatherneck Square under the OPCON of the 9th Marines. Numerous contacts were made with small NVA units during this period.

On 2 July at approximately 0500H Company "K" received automatic and small arms fire from the vicinity of YD 171693. Artillery and 81mm mortar missions were fired and Company "K" returned fire with small arms and automatic weapons, contact was broken and Company "K" swept through the area of contact discovering 21 NVA KIA confirmed, 3 crew served weapons and 7 individual weapons were captured. Approximately a half hour after Company "K" gained contact, the Battalion at YD 168692 received 20 rounds of enemy mortar fire (60mm) which resulted in 20 WIA's. At 0815H a Company "I" unit sighted 8 NVA at YD 169690 and artillery and mortar missions were called, a search of the area resulted in one NVA Prisoner of War. At 1715H the same day, Company "M" sighted two NVA in the open and engaged with small arms fire and artillery, later the size of the NVA unit was estimated at 20-30 personnel. The NVA broke contact and a search of the area revealed 15 NVA KIA confirmed along with weapons and equipment.

A second Prisoner of War was captured on the night of 3 July when a NVA walked into a Company "L" ambush, the NVA was armed with a RPG-2 rocket launcher.

During the period 3-4 July there were other small unit contacts which resulted in one friendly WIA, no NVA casualties could be confirmed.

On 5 July a unit of Company "K" while on a recon mission was taken under fire by an estimated 50-70 NVA fighting from well dug in positions and supported by 60mm mortars. The enemy initiated the contact with a command detonated mine, The Company "K" unit received 60mm mortar and small arms fire which resulted in casualties to the point squad. The other units of Company "K" were deployed and fixed wing air and gunships were requested. Company "K" maneuvered and extracted casualties under the cover of air strikes, gunships and artillery. Contact was broken at 1400H. NVA Casualties were 15 KIA's confirmed, Company "K" suffered 2 KIA's and 8 WIA's med evac.

On 6 July the Battalion rejoined the 3d Marines for a operation in the Napoleon/Saline AO. No contact was made by the Battalion during the operation and on 10 July the Battalion moved to Quang Tri for the S.U.R.E. program, the following day the Battalion was moved by truck to Camp J. J. Carroll and assumed the mission of security for Camp Carroll and convoys on route #9.

On 12 July the Battalion departed Camp Carroll to conduct ambush and anti-infiltration missions, no contact was gained during this period. On three occasions the Battalion was subjected to enemy mortar fires, 4 WIA's were sustained. The Battalion returned to Camp Carroll on 15 July.

12. Intelligence.

During the month of July the Battalion participated in operations in the Kentucky, Napoleon/Saline and Lancaster II AOs. There were no major conflicts, but light and medium sized contacts along with enemy mortar attacks were numerous in the early part of the month while operating in the Kentucky AO. (Leatherneck Square). Operations which were run along the eastern coast above the Cua Viet, produced no enemy sightings and no contacts. The Battalion then moved to the Lancaster AO operating out of Camp J. J. Carroll. Little resistance was met while operating in this area, on a few occasions the Battalion was subject to mortar and artillery attacks, but made no ground contact.

The Battalion operated in Leatherneck Square (OPCON to 9th Marines) for the first week in July. There were numerous small unit contacts which produced close to 60 NVA KIA's and two prisoners of war. Captured documents and POW interrogations indicated the enemy had many small units operating in Leatherneck Square with the mission of destroying helicopters.

On 2 July 1968 at 0530G the Battalion at YD 168692 was hit with 15-20 rounds of 60mm mortar fire from YD 155694. The mortar attack was on target and the Battalion suffered 20 WIA's. At 0500H of the same day Kilo Company at YD 168933 received small arms fire from the vicinity of YD 171693, they engaged the enemy with small arms, artillery and 81mm mortars, contact was broken just prior to 0900H. a search of the area of contact disclosed 21 confirmed NVA dead, numerous weapons and equipment were captured. Also on 2 July at 1705H at YD 155700 Mike Company engaged a small enemy unit with small arms, while checking the area 15 NVA dead were found along with weapons and equipment.

The largest contact of the month occurred on 5 July at 0830H when elements of Kilo Company were taken under fire by an estimated 50-70 NVA. The point squad suffered early casualties as the NVA used command detonated mines, mortars and small arms. An AO and fixed wing were requested. Kilo Company returned fire with small arms, artillery and 81mm mortars. Upon arrival of the AO and air support Kilo Company maneuvered to exploit the contact and recover casualties, this was difficult as the enemy was well dug in and supported by 60mm mortars. The casualties were recovered under the cover of air and supporting arms. Contact was broken and Kilo Company returned to its original position. 15 NVA KIA's were confirmed.

Upon leaving Leatherneck Square the Battalion went OPCON to the 3d Marines and conducted operations in the Napoleon/Saline AO before moving to the Lancaster AO in the middle of the month. The Battalion conducted operations out of Camp Carroll while in the Lancaster AO. There were no ground contacts with enemy forces and the Battalion was subject to only a few mortar rounds. There were many bunkers found especially while operating around Dong Ha mountain. These were overheaded with false tops or bottoms. Company "I" on 19 and 20 July found two 75mm pack howitzers at YD 028594 and YD 027602 while operating on Dong Ha mountain.

13. Communications. During the month the Battalion was almost always in the field on operations. A relay was maintained at Camp Big John to ensure communications to Dong Ha. On 11 July the Battalion moved to a fixed position at Camp Carroll. Wire was completely installed and normal wire and radio communications returned. A message center was set up to handle traffic through Camp Carroll. Another station on the Battalion Administrative net was set up at LZ Stud for resupply purposes.

a. Training.

b. Equipment Status.

The Battalion received six (6) AN/PRC-25's this month and 30 tapes and bases. Essential equipment down is as follows;

c. Problem Areas. The shortage last month of a 2847 was resolved when the platoon received a new KY-8 technician. The current tactical situation necessitates the maintenance of communications at five different positions simultaneously. This has stretched the Battalion radio and operator assets to their limit.

14. Weather. The weather during the month of July was hot and humid, generally clear with sporadic rains.

Average High.	95 degrees	Humidity	76%
Average Low.	79 degrees

Winds. The winds were generally from the northwest at 8 knots.

15. Fire Support. During the month of July the Battalion was almost continually in the field. Forward Observers concentrated their fires on preparatory fires, possible enemy infiltration routes and missions in support of patrolling units. The Battalion on 28 July was heli-lifted to LZ Margo to prepare a Fire Support Base, the FSB became operational on the evening of the same day and Battery "C", 1st Bn, 12th Marines was lifted into the base to provide support for elements of the 3d Marines.

16. Air Support. During the month of July 17 flights of fixed wing aircraft ran strikes in support of the Battalion. All strikes were controlled by an A0 in coordination with the ALO/FAC team. The AN/PRC-93 radio was checked on several of these flights with the same results as previously noted in other months.
